About our Clinicians

Melissa Creswick - Melissa Creswick is a USDF Gold, Silver and Bronze medalist and is currently competing at the FEI levels. She is the past president of the California Dressage Society and holds USEF "S" dressage judge and "I" sport horse breeding judge licenses. She was the head trainer at Clovis Training center until it was sold in 2009. Melissa is a positive teacher who understands the competitor's and the judge's show ring perspectives.

Thomas Poulin - Tom Poulin has been an influential member of the American dressage community longer than many riders today have been alive. In his lengthy career, he has been recognized as a top rider, trainer, USEF "S" judge, instructor, and clinician. He is one of the driving forces behind the growth of dressage as a sport in the US.

Debbie Riehl Rodriguez – Debbie Riehl Rodriguez has worked in the horse industry since 1974. She earned USDF Bronze, Silver, and Gold medals on horses she trained herself. She has won numerous 'Horse of the Year' awards, both locally and nationally, at all levels. She is a licensed USEF "S" Dressage judge and "R" Sporthorse Judge who travels extensively judging and giving clinics. Debbie is also a Faculty Member of the USDF "L" Education Program.

Amy McElroy is a dressage trainer, coach, and judge, based in South . She is known for her ability to train and coach adult amateurs to a high level of success at recognized dressage competitions. In addition to a full teaching and clinic schedule, Amy is a highly sought after judge and can frequently be seen in the judge's box at any one of the many recognized dressage shows or events throughout the country. Amy a USEF "S" judge with distinctions in Freestyle, Young Horse and Dressage Seat Equitation.

Jodi Lees - Jodi began her career in Combined Training Horse Trials and Three Day Eventing where she competed a number of horses successfully through the Preliminary Level. She has attained the USDF Gold, Silver & Bronze Medals and is a USEF Licensed "S" judge. She trains out of Campobello, SC.
